BROTHERS HOP OFF IN MONOPLANE TO FLY TO WARSAW

Joseph and Benjamin Adamowicz Leave Bennett Airport at 6 A. M.

ADVISOR WITH THEM

Two Hundred Spectators Give Cheers As Plane Takes Off Easily

NEW YORK, June 28—(INS)—Finally starting an adventure planned a year ago two brothers, Joseph Adamowicz, 39, and Benjamin, 36, took off from Floyd Bennett airport at 6.40 a. m. today in the Bellanca monoplane, "City of Warsaw" for Harbor Grace, N. F., on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight to Warsaw, capital of their native Poland.

They were accompanied by Holger Holmris who several years ago flew from New York to Copenhagen and who has acted as their advisor in their present venture. He will supervise their start across the Atlantic from Harbor Grace, scheduled for 4 a. m. tomorrow.

With Benjamin at the controls, the ship made a slow and easy take-off, picking up speed gradually on a 3,000 foot run before soaring into the sky. Two hundred spectators cheered as the big cabin monoplane started on its great adventure.

Rainstorms faced the fliers from here to Boston, and the weather from Boston to Maine was only fair. Favorable conditions were forecast from Maine to Harbor Grace, however, and very good weather was promised for the long journey across the Atlantic.

Bristol Tennis Trio To Play at Pocono Manor

POCONO MANOR, June 28—Three Bristol tennis products will make their debut with the Pocono Manor squad here on July 4th in a series of matches with Buck Hill Falls. They are: Franklin Fine, Herbert Lawrence and Nelson Green.

Six matches will be played, four singles and two doubles, as Albert Sandt, captain of Lafayette's tennis team, will be grouped with the three Bristol boys under the Pocono Manor banner.

Fine, also a member of the Lafayette College court troupe, is acting as coach of the tennis team at the Manor this season and is arranging a prolific schedule of matches around the mountain resorts.

Lawrence, a former University of Pennsylvania net star, was finalist in the New Jersey State tournament in both 1932 and 1933 while Nelson Green, current captain of Penn State's tennis representatives, is one of the best collegiate performers in the East.

Last Day To Register And File Rate Schedules

This is the last day for operators of for-hire vehicles to register and file rate schedules with the Pennsylvania Code Authority for the Trucking Industry.

All operators who do not have the new Blue Eagle tag to display on their vehicles tomorrow will be subject to $500 fine and six months' imprisonment for every day of non-compliance.

"We are prepared for swift and effective prosecution of violators," said Richard V. Zug, counsel for the Code Authority. "That is not only the law—it is required in simple justice to those who do comply."

"Registrations, however, have been very heavy during the last few days, and when the last-minute rush is over we expect to find only a very small per cent. of Pennsylvania's operators on the outside."

"When registration began it was said that we would have trouble with small operators, but their response soon showed us that they were willing and anxious to cooperate."

"Codification of the trucking industry will be a tremendous improvement, in that it will remove the 'chiselers' and cut-throat competitors who haul at below-cost rates, and assure operators a fair return on their investment."

Registration offices are open today in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Operators in other parts of the State, if they have not registered, are required to do so before tonight with the Code Authority offices in Harrisburg, or with their local chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

USED CRANE ON SAFE

BREELEY, Colo. — (INS)—Thieves who broke into a garage in Eaton, Colo., recently, used the crane on the wrecker truck to lift the safe into the machine, drove into the country and broke open the iron box. They obtained $30 and left the safe dangling at the end of the crane.

HARRISBURG — Motorists, apparently under the influence of intoxicating liquor, were involved in 162 accidents during May, in which five persons were killed and ninety-four injured.

Love Spans Atlantic

Through the aid of a world-wide news agency, Signorina Holla Torros, pretty Italian opera singer, has located her missing sweetheart, Ellis Loeb, shown above. The singer asked the news agency in London to help locate Loeb, who was found working in a Detroit furniture store. The couple separated in Italy eight years ago.

USE REVOCATION OF LICENSES FOR SAFETY

Motorists Who Crash, Violate Law, Lose Driving Permits

NUMBER IS INCREASING

HARRISBURG, June 28—The law enforcement phase of Pennsylvania's highway safety campaign is forcing more motorists than ever before to show why they should be allowed to continue to hold their licenses.

The Division of Safety today reported that, by the middle of May, the number of motor vehicle operators cited for hearings this year as the result of accidents or violations of the Motor Code had exceeded the total cited during the entire year of 1931. In five and a half months, the division has ordered 3464 drivers in for hearings. This contrasts with the annual aggregate of 3375 three years ago.

The power of the Department of Revenue to revoke, suspend or withdraw operators' licenses because of unsafe practices and serious violations of the law has been used with increasing frequency during the past four years. As compared with 1192 citations during 1929, the number of operators ordered in for hearings jumped to 2425 the following year and then to 3375 in 1931.

The increase in dangerous driving habits, reflected in the mounting accident totals, produced another big gain in citations during 1932 when 5300 operators were called upon to justify the continuation of their driving privileges. Last year, when highway accidents reached a new high mark, 5797 drivers were cited for hearings.

The current gain in accidents, which at the end of five months has sent the aggregate 25 per cent. above the levels of the same period last year, has been accompanied by record monthly citations. In January, 573 were cited; February, 664; March, 597; April, 526, and May, 537.

As the result of these hearings, the licenses of 2865 operators were withdrawn by the end of May, nearly 200 more than the total for the same period last year. In 1934 cases, the licenses were revoked for the year; in the 1518 other instances suspensions for shorter periods were dealt out.

The effect of citations and license withdrawals as a safety measure is increased this year by the new Financial Responsibility Law. Under this act, effective since January 1, operators whose licenses are withdrawn must furnish proof of ability to pay up to $11,000 for accident damages before the licenses can be restored at the end of the suspension period.

Officials of the Division of Safety assert that, under these procedures, motorists who refuse to respond to other methods of promoting safety on the highways, will ultimately be compelled to develop safer driving habits or relinquish their rights to operate motor vehicles in Pennsylvania.

PLAN SHORE TRIP

SOCIALISTS OF SAAR REGION BITTERLY FIGHT NAZI UNION; HITLER GRIMLY DETERMINED TO GET THE SAAR BACK INTO GERMANY IN HIS OWN WAY

Country, Ruled by League on Which Hitler Has Turned His Back

PLEBISCITE IS AWAITED

French Realize That The Territory is Entirely Lost to Them

(Note: This is the second of two stories on the Saar region, bone of contention between Germany and France, and one of the "sore" spots of Europe today.—International News Service.)

By Arno Dosch-Fleuret
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SAARBRUKEN, June 28—(INS)—The grim determination of Chancellor Hitler to get the Saar back into Germany in his own way is what makes this rich coal belt region so dangerous for the peace of Europe. His partisans in the Saar leap ahead of his plans, perhaps of his desires. They want to go back to the Reich now without further ado.

They dislike the plebiscite scheduled for early next year, which will decide whether the Saar basin is to be united with Germany or France, or remain under League control, because it was decreed by the Treaty of Versailles which Hitler has defied.

The country is being ruled meanwhile by the League of Nations, on which Hitler has turned his back. To many of the Nazis in the "Deutsches Front" and in Germany this situation has become intolerable. They can hardly be restrained from disarming the 90 Saar gendarmes, Saarlanders themselves, and mostly sympathetic with the "Deutsches Front" and telling the League's Commission to get out and not to stand on the order of its departure.

Chief Commissioner Knox, knowing this situation, reported it in his sensational letter to the League Council, warning against a Nazi "putsch."

The hot-headed Saarlanders, and the League Commissioners also, know that three times in the history of the League, at Fiume, Vilna and Memel, nationalist "putsches" defied the League successfully.

Dr. Pirro, "Fuhrer" of the "Deutsches Front," and many influential Saarlanders have insisted to me that there is no danger of the Saar people losing their patience, instead of waiting for a sure victory at the plebiscite.

COUNTY RESCUE SQUAD HONORS PARKLAND YOUTH

James Buehl, Jr., Given Citation at Meeting Held in Croydon

IS EXPERT SWIMMER

CROYDON, June 28—To James Buehl, Jr., Parkland, was a citation presented last evening by the Bucks County Rescue Squad, which organization states the young man last Sunday saved the lives of six people in the Neshaminy Creek at Parkland, bringing the rescuer's total for the past three years up to 48. All 48 of the rescued, it is said, were taken by Buehl, unaided, from the Neshaminy Creek at Parkland.

The citation, last evening, was in the form of a certificate, the work of a member of the squad. The presentation, made by Joseph Law, squad instructor, was made on the occasion of the first anniversary of the organization of the Bucks County Rescue Squad, here. The celebration, an evening of dancing, music and refreshments, took place in the fire station.

Buehl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Buehl, Sr., has volunteered his services at the Summer colony in Parkland, and spends practically every evening, and Saturdays and Sundays along the creek, ready to give aid to any needy bather.

The squad, which gave the certificate of commendation, states that it will bring the work of the young rescuer to the attention of the American Red Cross, the Carnegie Foundation, and the National Safety Council.

At Parkland, young Buehl is aided by Joseph Law, who in addition to being instructor for the squad, is a first aid worker for the Bell Telephone Company. A first aid kit is kept handy at the resort, and the two men have frequently found use for it, they state.

The presentation last evening came as a surprise to Buehl, who is not a member of the squad. He and his mother had been invited to accompany the elder Buehl to the affair, the latter being a member.

The squad and the Ladies' Auxiliary combined in arranging for the affair of last evening.

The squad, which has been answering several hospital calls weekly, has been presented with $50 by the Bucks County Commissioners to be used toward the purchase of an inhalator.

The officers of the squad are: President, Louis Beisel; vice-president, Edwin Boyd; secretary, James E. Harris; treasurer, George Fletcher; board of governors—James E. Harris, chairman; Edward Petterson, James Mahlin, Joseph Reiss, George Fletcher.

Those who serve as officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary are: Mrs. Ruth Schunk, R. N., president; Miss Betty Irvine, vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Porter, financial secretary; Mrs. Joseph Law, recording secretary; Mrs. Catherine Burkett, treasurer; trustees—Mrs. Mahlin, Mrs. Charlotte Brown, Miss Ruth Crawford.

Gratuitous service is given by the squad and auxiliary. The squad purchased its second ambulance at the end of last Summer.

TO ALLOCATE FUNDS

Harrisburg, June 28—The State Emergency Relief Board meets here today to allocate July funds which were expected to be made available by the Federal government during the day.

With relief funds virtually exhausted by June expenditures, the Board prepared to meet in a state of uncertainty over what proportion of the direct and work relief program could be continued until next month. The answer lies with the amount of money made available today by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins. Reports from Washington indicated the $11,500,000 allocation for June will be slashed somewhat for July, but perhaps not more than the expected drop-off in the relief load during the first of the hot summer months.

EXPLOSION KILLS TEN

Olympia, Wash., June 28—The death toll of two explosions that leveled the plant of the J. A. Denn Powder Company, killing at least ten persons, may be swelled to 15, authorities feared today as they searched through the wreckage for bodies.

The ten known victims included two women and a 12 year old boy. Two men are missing and two other men and women suffered injuries that may prove fatal.

With a roar heard for miles, the plant blew up last night. The survivors were so seriously injured investigators were unable to learn immediately just how the tragedy occurred. The plant employed 15 persons on each shift. The theory of workmen on the earlier shift, who escaped the explosion, was that the major blast of eight tons of newly-mixed dynamite was ignited by a minor explosion in the mixing room which started the fire.

Garren, Erie restaurant proprietor, and the arrest of his wife, Catherine, 43. Mrs. Garren, suffering a possible brain concussion, was held on an open charge in connection with her husband's death. Because of the critical condition of Mrs. Garren, police were unable to press her for a complete account of the battle.

DAMP WASH at EDGELY

Ted Roper tied record last night on Leedom's field as the Damp Wash A. A. blanked the Hibernians, 2-0. Roper fanned twelve batters which is the same number that Antonelli whiffed on June 13 when the Independents beat the Jefferson A. C.

Roper had to be good last night to win as his adversary, Hal Snyder, was equally as good. Snyder struck out eleven and like Roper allowed but six hits. However, the Damp Wash hurler was tighter in the pinches than the Hibs' flinger.

The laundryman pitcher was in several tough spots during the match but

PRODUCING DIRECTOR

PAUL E. RANDALL

Director of Dramatics at Temple University, who is producing director of the Sarobia Players, Eddington, who will stage first production for season tomorrow evening.

SAROBIA PLAYERS TO START SUMMER SEASON

"Sun Up" Will Be The First Presentation at Manor Theatre, Croydon

PLAN TEN PROGRAMS

The Sarobia Players will begin their 1934 season tomorrow at 8.30 p. m., in the Manor Theatre, Croydon, with Lula Vollmer's "Sun Up."

The players consist of some of the best amateurs and semi-professional dramatic personell in this and the Philadelphia area. The acting and technical staffs have been chosen from the Temple University Dramatic unit, the Temple Players; the Bessie V. Hicks School of Dramatics; the Emily Kreider Norris School of Dramatics; the Theatre League, and various other talented groups. The entire group resides at Sarobia, the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Logan, in Eddington.

Paul E. Randall, the producing director, is a graduate of the Yale School of the Drama, and has had many years' experience in various stock companies throughout the east. At the present time he is the director of dramatics at Temple University, where he has acquired a constantly growing reputation for fine dramatic productions, making him well known in Philadelphia theatrical circles.

Beginning June 29th, the Sarobia Players will present ten programs. Seven of these will consist of interesting three-act plays by popular authors. The remaining three programs, which are to be distributed throughout the season, will be, enlightening presentations in the allied arts of the theatre.

In their present vehicle, the Sarobia Players present a play that concerns itself with the inhabitants of the North Carolina Mountains. The story is deep with the emotion of those simple, earthy, American people. The plot centers around the Cagle family; Widow Cagle, played by Margaret Eves, having been "breakin' the law for high on to forty years" by "moon-shinin'." The law has taken her husband for this illegal practice and in 1918 she has to surrender her son Rufe, played by Morton Tecosky, to the law at the drafting for the World War, on the day of his wedding to a mountain girl, Emmy Todd, played by Nellie Hamilton. More dramatic situations arise when Mrs. Cagle harbors a deserter from the army, played by P. Harry Sullivan, and denouement when she finds out his identity. Lots of mellow comedy is lent to the play by Pap Todd, played by S. Morton Lawrence, and the preacher, played by James Stolz. A further insight into the character of the mountaineers is shown in the Sheriff, played by Walter Grindrod, and Bud, played by Norman T. Strickland.

The main object of John S. Woodrow, the managing director of the Theatre, in presenting this project, is to establish in Pennsylvania a practical summer school of the Theatre.

TO ENFORCE RECOVERY ACT

Philadelphia, June 28—In the wake of the nation's first criminal conviction for violation of the NRA Code, a renewed drive to enforce the Recovery Act was forecast by government spokesmen here today.

The first contested criminal action of its kind ended here late yesterday when a jury of nine men and three women in Federal District Court found Harry Sley and the Sley System of Garages, Inc., guilty on 74 counts.

Both Sley and the company which operates the chain of garages and parking spaces in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Newark, N. J., face maximum fines of $37,000 each or a total of $74,000 representing $500 for each offense. Marshall Coyne, attorney for the wealthy garage owner, announced he will file a motion for arrest of judgment and a new trial when his client is brought before Judge George Welsh late today to be sentenced.

The lawyer said Sley is prepared to carry the battle to the Appellate Court.

FIRE PROTECTION IN FALLS AND LOWER MAKEFIELD ARGUED

Efforts Being Made Today To Settle the Controversy

COMMITTEES NAMED

The Parties Interested Are To Meet and Arrange Plans

FALLSINGTON, June 28—Volunteer firemen, supervisors of Falls Township and Lower Makefield townships along with James E. Groome, president of the Bucks County Firemen's Association and County Fire Marshal, William L. Stackhouse met here last night to discuss some plan of action whereby adequate fire protection might be given to the residents of the townships.

The meeting was brought about by the recent action of Morrisville Borough Council which announced, the withdrawal of the services of fire companies of that borough to the two townships and a letter mailed to policyholders in the Bucks County Contribution Insurance Company.

It has been announced that the Morrisville companies would not answer alarms in Falls or Lower Makefield townships after July 1st, unless they were compensated for so doing.

The Bucks County Contribution Insurance Company wrote its policy holders in the two districts:

"Dear Policy Holders: "Enclosed find reprint of what is of vital interest to you. If fire protection is withdrawn after July 1, 1934, it will possibly mean that we shall have to cancel the insurance insured by this company in the territory that has been dependent on Morrisville Fire Department for service in case of fire."

"We should regret the necessity to exercise this right and trust that ways might be found to have this service continued or other equally efficient fire protection established."

The matter was discussed both pro and con at the meeting last night and it was brought out that Morrisville has requested Falls Township supervisors to pay $1,000 annually and to sign an agreement for a number of years.

The only fire company in Falls Township is located here and it has one piece of apparatus. It does not receive any support from the township tax funds.

A committee was named to interview Morrisville authorities and also the insurance company officials in an effort to have them rescind their action until such time as the matter can be amicably settled.

The supervisors contend that their budget is fixed for the year and that the matter was not officially called to their attention, until it was too late to provide for it in this year's budget. All agreed that Morrisville had rendered efficient service and that the service was appreciated.

Records of the Morrisville Fire Company show that from 50 to 75 percent of all fire calls are in the two townships while Morrisville taxpayers are required to pay all the bills for the purchase and maintenance of fire equipment. One and one-half mills is levied in Morrisville for fire purposes.

Properly owners have become alarmed by the receipt of the letter from the insurance company. It is said.

Awaits Identification Of Tube With Note of "Akron"

Ernest Hellings, 333 Walnut street, is awaiting anxiously for positive identification of a tube which he picked out of the Delaware River as being one dropped from the U. S. S. Akron.

Hellings found the tube as he walked along the beach in the vicinity of Maple Beach. The tube, apparently of aluminum, or duralumin, is a little more than a quarter inch in diameter, cylindrical in shape, and about two inches long. It has a cap containing the letters "HA" at the top, "LAB" at the bottom, and "MT" and "EZ" on either side of a diagram in the center.

Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, who is in charge of the U. S. Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N. J., and former skipper of the Akron, said he could not identify the tube from the description given him over the telephone, although there is a possibility it might have been a part of the Akron's equipment. The tube has been sent to Lakehurst for identification.

Hellings, just out of curiosity, picked the tube out of the water, and unscrewing the cap, was surprised to find therein an irregular piece of paper, on which was scribbled the message. He took it to his home, placed the paper in the sun so that it would dry, and then the message showed up plainly, reading: "U. S. S. Akron, calling for help, April 4, 1933."

DEPRESSION'S COST

No situation or set of conditions is too difficult for statisticians to attack.

Among the latest productions of those who like to tell it with figures is an itemized statement of the cost of the depression to the nation. It comes from experts on the national industrial conference board.

According to these, lost wages, profits and investments, amounted during the three years from 1930 to 1933, to the staggering sum of $108,000,000,000. The loss to employees, in wages and salaries, was placed at $37,000,000,000. Persons in business for themselves lost $47,400,000,000 in rents, royalties, interest and dividends, while individual proprietors and corporations suffered a capital business loss of $23,200,000,000.

There is, of course, no way of determining accurately the depression's cost to the country. The estimates prepared by the conference board may or may not come somewhere near the correct figures.

These are not required, though, to impress upon the public the disastrous nature of the industrial crash. There probably are few homes or individuals in the entire nation that did not feel, to some extent, the effect of the depression.

It is futile to attempt to reduce the latter to figures. What the nation is interested in now is the rapidity of the return to normal conditions. Figures bearing on this have a real interest. The people are more intent on looking ahead than in glancing backward.

ONE IN A MILLION

Some months ago certain New York state officials, during a notorious investigation, were seeking to justify large salaries, fabulous fees and amazing perquisites. In refreshing contrast to that disgusting picture is the county official in the same state who insists his $12,000 salary is excessive and demands a $3000 cut.

Where public salaries are fixed by the legislature none may tamper with them but the legislature, but there should be nothing to prevent recipients of those salaries from making an annual refund, say in the form of a Christmas gift to the county. Most county treasurers could use the money.

It would appear that this honest officeholder considers $9000 a year a fair salary for his job. Perhaps it is, but most public officials earn much less than that although they may receive more. The average county or municipal official gives very little time to his public job giving part of both his time and salary to partisan politics.

Were all political subdivisions such as cities and counties to discharge all their elective officers and place the administration of the public affairs in the hands of deputies and clerks it is believed that subsidized political parties would suffer much worse than public affairs. The system was designed to provide politicians with time and money for politics.

A democracy is a land where the law refuses to suppress the devil if a few people make money by helping him.

People who are now worrying about inflation are five years too late.

Alimony is a shorter name for matrimonial reparations.

"DEATH SONG"

by JOAN CLAYTON AND MALCOLM LOGAN

SYNOPSIS

In August, Seifert Vail was murdered at exclusive Sherwood Forest Sanatorium. Up to that time, Mark Hillyer, the playwright, crippled from arthritis, had been bored. "The crime gave him new interest in life. It was he who finally solved the mystery. He saw the significance of the phonograph record singing in Vail's own voice in the room where its creator lay dead.

CHAPTER II

For two days Mark was feverishly busy. The doctors took his case history, X-rayed him, barked his legs and took specimens of his blood. When they were not examining him, he lay in bed, propped up with pillows, and issued orders by the dozen. He fought several skirmishes with the sanatorium staff and, victorious, saw his bare, antiseptic quarters blossom into an imitation of a green room. When he had finished, a crimson carpet covered the floor; a brass spittoon gleamed in one corner; a cocktail shaker adorned the bedside table. Mark's big leather chair stood beside the scarred oak desk on which he had written his first starring play, "The King of High Jinx." The walls were crowded with autographed pictures of the stars of two decades. The place of honor on the bureau was occupied by a portrait of a man, a young man, who wore a natty derby, rented dress clothes, a malacca walking stick and a famous grin. That was Mark at twenty-two, taken in the season when High Jinx captured New York.

"It's just like home," I told Mark. "Home!" said Mark. "Get out of here before I start bawling!" We worked on Mark's new play for three months, and Mark put on a magnificent display of temperance. He had always acted his plays as he wrote them, and he found it intolerable to dictate, lying quietly in bed. He was restricted to two hours of work a day, and when he was not working, he was so profoundly, bitterly bored that I feared he would never recover. I expressed that fear to Dr. John Calvert, who had taken a particular interest in Mark.

"Boredom isn't fatal," he said, in his dry way. "If it were, half my patients would be dead. Tell him the mountains are worth looking at."

"You can take your mountains, and you know what you can do with them," Mark said when I repeated this advice. "My mountains are skyscrapers and my trees are street lights. Times Square is the only scenery I want to see."

Dr. Calvert had sounded unsympathetic, but for some time after that conversation, he took what time he could spare from his patients in the cottages to visit Mark. This was characteristic of him. He would go to any trouble for a patient, though his manner with them was often unfortunately curt. John Calvert was not more than twenty-eight, but he was usually as sedate as a man twice that age. He seemed to me very guarded, as though he were afraid to let himself go. He was curious to see how well he got along with Mark, who shamelessly revealed every slightest emotion. Sometimes Mark carried him away, and for a little while the

Socialists of Saar Region Bitterly Fight Nazi Union

"It is hard," said Dr. Pirro, "the last few months seem the longest, but we shall wait."

The Reverend Dr. Schlich, Prelate and leader of the Saar Catholic associations, broadcast to all Catholics (the Saar is three-fourths Catholic) to vote German regardless of the difficulties which may have arisen between the government and Church. "We Rhinelanders," he said, "remain true to our God, our Holy Church, and to our beloved German Fatherland."

Only the active Socialists, under the leadership of their fighting editor Max Braun, cry out warning to the Saarlanders not to vote for Germany. Braun is a Rhineland, racially as "aryan" a German as any Nazi, who alone have refused to join the "Deutsches Front."

Braun is ostracized. "No landlord dare rent me a house," he told me. "For a long time no barber in Saarbrück dared clip my hair. The whole country is terrorized by the thought of what may happen to those who oppose the Nazis, once the Saar becomes German again. Those who are opposed to the Nazis are also much more numerous than might appear. Hitler can enroll them, make them wear his colors, hand on the Swastika flags, but he cannot be sure that they will cast their votes for him, if the ballot is really secret."

"What is needed," said Herr Braun, talking to me in his editorial offices, which his followers carefully guard, "is a neutral police force of 5,000 men, strong enough to close the German frontier against the Nazi terror, so that every Saarlander may feel that he is really under the protection of the League of Nations."

"I fought the French occupation and put in two months in prison for it," continued Braun. "I am now fighting the 'brown' invasion."

The French know the Saar is lost to them. The only thing French about the Saar is its money. It seems strange even to be using French francs in a country so completely German. The one French flag flies in front of the Mines building. There are French schools and have been for fifteen years, but no word of French is heard on the streets.

The only permanent French impression I noticed was the way Saar-Louis was laid out by Vauban in the time of Louis XIV. But the houses, and all the inhabitants are German. There are, however, several families of French origin, which have maintained their French nationality ever since the Conference of Vienna gave the Saar to Germany. One of these families is that of the wife of the German Vice-Chancellor, Von Papen.

OPPOSE SPECIAL SESSION

Wernersville, June 28.—The Pennsylvania Bar Association today stood opposed to the calling of a special session of the State Legislature to provide revenue for relief organizations. Meeting in its 40th annual convention here, it adopted a resolution expressing its opposition to the proposed special session after its committee on taxes and fiscal administration submitted its report declaring "Special sessions of the General Assembly are expensive luxuries, they are disturbing to the budget of the state because they present a new element for expenses and in addition, a special session with the express purpose of providing new revenue would lead to a feeling of apprehension among the business interests of the state which would undoubtedly delay the industrial recovery so much desired."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, minerals, water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Reagent a substitute. 25-cent drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Growing Cucumbers

The idea of growing cucumbers as climbing vines rather than as ramblers over the face of the earth where they take up much room is gaining in popularity. The idea has been spread through the medium of some of the great greenhouse plants about the country devoted entirely to the winter growing of cucumbers for the cold season market. In these glass houses the cucumbers are trained to strings and go straight up to the roof.

They may be as easily grown in the home garden in this manner as in a greenhouse and with great economy of space. A sunny back porch may have cucumbers as shade producing vines and it is as attractive in appearance as some vines that are grown as ornaments. The vine will climb quickly if given support and will produce just as abundantly in an upright position which is its natural method of growth, being provided with tendrils for climbing. Often cucumbers on the edge of a corn planting will seize upon a cornstalk as support.

Six-foot trellises can be made at home to accommodate the vines very easily and when they reach the top they can be pinched back to be kept in bounds. When grown to upright supports as climbers the problem of furnishing them the moisture in hot weather is much easier to handle than when they sprawl about the ground. They can be given a mulch or trenches can be dug a foot away from the vines on either side of the row to be filled with water to soak into the soil.

Cucumbers like a good soil but revel in one of fairly light texture which is easily warmed provided it can be furnished with a supply of moisture. The time to give cucumbers their heavy feeding is at the start of their career. Apply fertilizer liberally to the soil when they are planted. It is not needed so much in their later career. It is possible to get so much nitrogen into the soil in the way of humus and fertilizer that the cucumber will run too luxuriantly to leaf and vine. If the vine seems to be running too heavily pinch out the ends of the principal shoot and head it back to blossoming and fruiting. Always pick the first cucumber promptly to encourage the vine to bring on the rest of the family.

GORED BY STEER

DUESSELWARD, Germany — (INS) — Suddenly enraged, the steer which Gerhard Langeveld was leading to pasture turned on the farmer and goaded him. Langeveld screamed for help but his body was run through by both of the steer's horns before farm help could distract the attention of the enraged animal from his victim. He died on the way to the hospital.

EMBLEM IN TREE

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. — (INS) — A masonic emblem carved into a lodge-pole pine near Yellowstone lake in 1887 was discovered by Earl Semington, temporary ranger. The emblem is complete with square, compass and triangle and bears the initials "J. H." The tree in which it was carved is now more than 18 inches in diameter.

NO DEBT DEFAULT

JOHANNESBURG — (INS) — While Britain has suspended war debt payments to the United States, the Union of South Africa continues to pay the mother country. It was officially stated here. The regular half-yearly interests of $894,250 was handed over on June 1 and an equal sum will be paid December 1.

LIT EMPLOYEES HAVE OUTING

George H. Johnson, president of Lit Brothers, receives key to Wildwood, N. J., from Mayor Doris S. Bradway. Walter T. Grosscup, executive vice-president, is witness.

More than 4,000 employees of Lit Brothers Department Store in Philadelphia and members of their families were guests of the management at an outing to Wildwood on Sunday.

Four special trains conveyed the visitors to the resort. From the time Mayor Doris S. Bradway officially welcomed the visitors and presented the key to the city to George H. Johnson, store president, until the last train pulled out the day teemed with action for the visitors.

Met at the station by the city officials and the Wildwood city band, the Philadelphians were escorted to their headquarters, Convention Hall on the boardwalk. Radio performers from Station WLIT entertained.

In welcoming the visitors, Mayor Bradway spoke of the close relationship between the resort and the Philadelphia districts. She told them that the city dedicated itself to the entertainment of Lit Brothers during the day. George H. Johnson, introduced as president of "America's greatest department store," thanked the municipal officials for the way they co-operated with his organization in arranging the entertainment.

Walter T. Grosscup, executive vice-president of the store, said the plan for the outing originated after the store employees put on a special shirt sale that was "the biggest merchandising event of its kind in history."

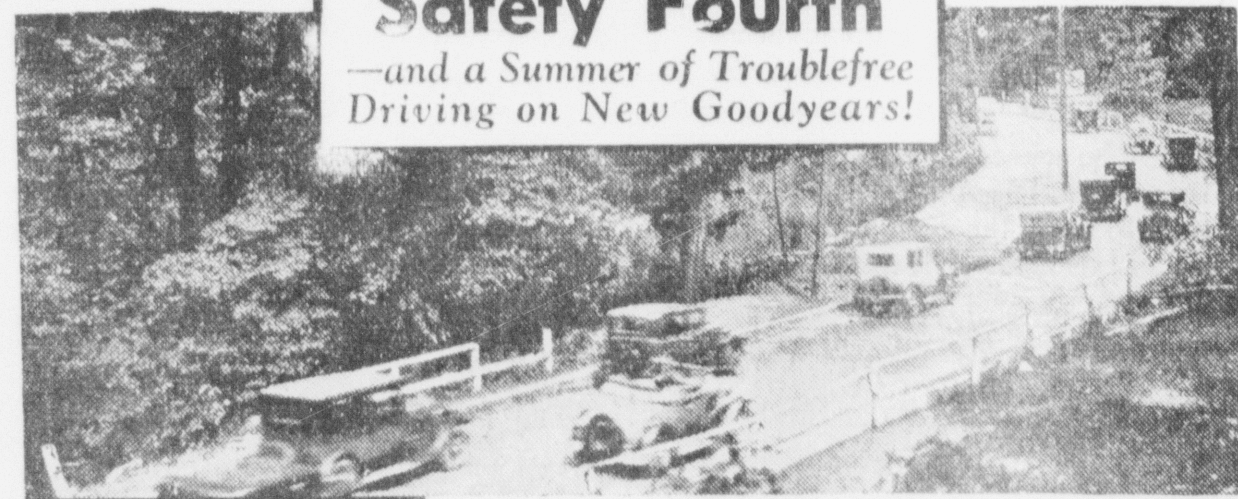

It was announced that Mayor Bradway, Commissioner Frederick W. McC. Murray and the Adelphi White Hotel presented the three juvenile performers on the store program with vacation of one week each in the resort.

Athletic and other contests were conducted on the beach. Miss Dorothy Stewart won the contest for the most beautiful bathing girl among the employees; Miss Sue Donnelly won the most popular employee contest.

All who attended the outing were guests of the firm at dinner in Convention Hall. The hall was decorated by a special corps of store decorators. The department store committee in charge also provided a special first aid tent and medical attendants to care for any minor ailments. Store information clerks manned a special information booth on the boardwalk.

Weather conditions were ideal throughout the day.

SHORT CUTS TO THE DINNER TABLE

ROMANCE OF FOODS PROVES INTERESTING TO HOME-MAKERS!

By Vera A. Schneider

At different times, you will recall, I have given over our little column to the origin and romance of foods—coffee as discovered by one Hadji Omar, who was outlawed from Mocha; the cocoa bean which was carried across the seas by Columbus to Queen Isabella, etc. And, since my home-maker friends have found these little stories interesting, I thought I would continue the practice from time to time. So, our story this week, will be about the origin of the banana which really reads like fiction. The story of this luscious fruit, the discovery of it as a fine food, the great care taken in its cultivation, harvesting and shipping, its distribution and its many uses in the menu, is one which you'll find as fascinating as any romance.

Though this fact is rarely thought of today, it was only at the beginning of the Twentieth Century that the task of bringing the banana from its tropical habitat to the American table, was beset with the greatest difficulties. Indeed, the story of how these difficulties were met, so that this delicious food-fruit could become not only an all-year round product, but one of our least expensive foods, is one of the most thrilling tales of empire building that the Western Hemisphere has known.

So successfully has the problem been solved, however, that now the banana is to be found at your grocery and produce markets every day of the year.

But the space allotted me in this column of ours is so limited, that I shall have to continue our story about this nutritious and increasingly popular food next week, for a recipe or two must find its way to print. I have one for you today that will make a dainty treat for cake lovers.

Banana Cake

1/2 cupful butter
1 1/2 cupfuls sugar
2 eggs
2 cupfuls flour
2 teaspoonful baking powder
3/4 teaspoonful soda
1/2 teaspoonful salt
1/4 cupful sour milk
1 cupful mashed banana (2 to 3 bananas)
1 teaspoonful vanilla
1 cupful cream—whipped and sweetened
2 bananas—sliced
Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Stir in the well beaten eggs. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together, and add alternately with the sour milk and bananas. Add vanilla. Pour into greased layer cake pans and bake in a moderate (375 degrees F.) oven for 30 minutes. When layers are cold, put together with whipped cream and sliced bananas, and spread whipped cream on top. Garnish with slices of banana.

Scheidt Brewery Is One Of Largest in The East

In the brewing of good beer, one of the essentials is a fully-equipped brewery with sufficient storage space for proper aging.

The Scheidt Brewery, at Norristown, covers an area of 12 acres. It is one of the largest in this section of the country. Its storage room facilities cover many thousands of square feet, affording ample room for the storing and ageing of thousands of barrels of beer.

Location of the brewery at Norristown was not incidental. For generations—here and abroad—members of the Scheidt family have been identified with the brewing of beer. When they first came to this country, 79 years ago, to establish the Scheidt Brewery, they searched everywhere for the kind of water best suited to right brewing. They knew that in Europe the reputation of world-famous beers was made largely because of the water used in the brewing process.

They found, at Norristown, a water supply with just the right mineral characteristics. In fact, this natural spring water was the nearest in this country—in natural mineral content—to the famous Continental waters, used in making the finest European beers.

Four wells were sunk 800 feet into the ground to reach this water supply source, and today every drop of water used in the brewing of Scheidt's Valley Forge Special Beer comes from these springs. Always uniform—always the same high quality.

Roper Fans Twelve; Blanks Hibernians

he always relied on his fast breaking curve to pull him through. Most of the third strikes on the batters were called by Umpire David as the Hibs' batsmen seemed to be completely fooled by the break in Roper's curve.

The Hibernians put across an old-fashioned rally in the last frame but a wonderful play at first base killed the uprising without a run. After Snyder rolled out and Joe Roe whiffed, Dougherty slammed a clean hit to right. Shourt fumbled Ad Roe's grounder and when Dougherty's roller got by Shourt the bases were crowded. Flynn tapped an easy grounder to Brescia which Felkner also went over to field, leaving first base open. Roper ran to cover first, took Brescia's throw on the run, and touched first, barely beating the runner on a very close play to end the game.

The Washers scored their first tally in the fourth. Hagerman was hit with a pitched ball. Roper struck out. Calia was passed. Carnvale whiffed. Brescia sent a short single to center and Hagerman by a fine slide at the plate got away from Dougherty for a run. Mulligan breezed.

The other run came in the next inning. Felkner got a squibbie hit to right. He reached second when Flynn missed Dougherty's peg and came home on Shourt's hard bingle to left.

The Hibernians had runners on base in every frame but could not solve Roper when it was mostly needed.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness. If kidneys don't empty 3 or 4 times every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.
